

Dear all,

October brings new hopes, happiness to everyone as the festive time is around the corner. When it comes to Indian festivals, one can never go wrong in predicting that people want to have as pompous a celebration as anyone has ever seen or heard. Festivals are an opportunity for people of different age groups and communities to come together and be part of something special. The feeling of oneness is inescapable and heart-warming. At the core of it, what makes everything truly worth it is a feeling of being part of something special. All the children of Boys' Home, Girls' Home and Community Centres celebrated the festivities with new cloths, foods and sweets and for this they are very much grateful to all the members of LittleBigHelp.

Best Regards,
LittleBigHelp India Team
